Places to visit in São Paulo

Ibirapuera Park

It is a major urban park in São Paulo. It has a large area for leisure, jogging and walking, as well a vivid cultural scene with museums and a music hall. Its importance to São Paulo is often comparable to that of Central Park to New York City, Golden Gate Park to San Francisco, or Ueno Park to Tokyo. Ibirapuera is one of South America's largest city parks, together with Chapultepec Park, in Mexico City and Simón Bolívar Park in Bogota.

Paulista Avenue

The most popular avenue of the city concentrates all that is best in Sao Paulo. It is possible to visit museums and cultural centers, find a park in the middle of large spiders-rise, check releases in bookstores, enjoy happy hour in one of its many bars, enjoy the night in nightclubs, watch theatrical performances and sessions cinema of the most varied production styles, and shopping all in one place.
